

Norway Spruce

Highfield Park Tree Trail: Number 27

Latin Name: Picea abies

Range: Northern Europe

Height: to 65m (40m in cultivation)

Uses: Widely planted for forestry and Christmas trees

An evergreen narrowly conical with individual short stiff needles borne on little pegs (which differentiates them from similar conifers. The female cones are pendulous, about 12 - 18cm long, cylindrical and bluntly pointed.

Why is it our tree of the month? As there are so many of its fellows in houses round about, it seems only fair to give these a moment of glory.
